New Facility is a Success for Rhinehart

Rhinehart Finishing LLC has increased their offerings to customers yet again. After months of building, Rhinehart has expanded their business by 20,000 square feet.

Neighboring their current building, the new space offers customers a brand new state-of-the-art painting system streamlined for efficiency and quality.

Begun by Philip R. Rhinehart in 2001, Rhinehart Finishing has 68,000 total square feet of production space. Employing over 90 highly trained workers, Rhinehart specializes in powder and liquid coating as well as custom masking and highlighting.

The roots of the business extend all the way back to 1945 with Philip's father John Rhinehart who started the sister company, Rhinehart Development Corporation that specializes in metal fabrication and metal stamping.

Rhinehart Finishing LLC has built its business on the tenets started by Philip's father: hard work, honesty, and integrity. "We still put our customers first—we listen—and that is one of the characteristics that sets us apart," says Philip Rhinehart, President of Rhinehart Finishing, LLC and Rhinehart Development Corporation.

The addition of the new building has been an overwhelming success for Rhinehart Finishing. "We have increased our capacity tremendously and noticed a 25% increase in sales since we opened this summer," says Don McDaniel, Vice-President and General Manager. "This second building has given us the space we desperately needed to continue to grow and improve our turn around time for customers."

Our management team at Rhinehart has the knowledge and experience that is unparalleled. This resource, coupled with the desire to give customers the best products possible is the reason why Rhinehart's name is so respected in this highly competitive industry.

Rhinehart Finishing, LLC has been offering quality products coupled with quality service for years. Established in the industry as a top of the line painter, Rhinehart's reputation continues to grow and expand throughout the United States. Offering military approved coatings as well as commercial powder coatings Rhinehart Finishing is able to meet your needs—no matter how big or small!
